WINTERGREEN FUND, INC.

A MESSAGE TO OUR SHAREHOLDERS

JUNE 30, 2009 (Unaudited)

Dear Fellow Wintergreen Fund Shareholder,

During the first half of 2009, world economies began to show signs of recovering from last year's tornado-like spiral movements and damage. As I write this letter, the consensus view seems to be one of cautious optimism; on many days the markets are showing signs of recovery, a necessary foundation for a plausible return to normalcy. With the assistance of time we will have a clearer picture of just when this economic crisis began, when it bottomed, and when the recovery began. Wintergreen Fund's (the "Fund") performance for the first six months of 2009 was 10.65%, outperforming the Standard & Poor's 500 Composite Index which returned 3.16%. We are pleased with the Fund's performance and continue to work hard for our investors.

Looking back on just where the markets have been over the last 18 to 24 months reminds me of the children's story The Wizard of Oz. The book by L. Frank Baum has been quite popular for more than a century. The heroine of the story is a young girl named Dorothy who lived with relatives on a Kansas farm where a tornado knocks Dorothy down and she becomes unconscious. While Dorothy dreams, she gathers together every ounce of intellect, passion, and bravery she can muster and forges onward toward the Wizard of Oz who she hopes will help her find her way back home.

Like the tornado Dorothy faced, the world's economies have been on a topsy-turvy journey. Efforts to correct the economy have included huge governmental infusions of cash and some new financial rules. Portions of the market appear to have begun to show signs of having the heart, brains, and courage needed to function assertively. It may be that more government directed assistance is needed, but there are some indicators that many businesses and market segments are on their way to recovery. Like Dorothy and her friends, many companies and sectors generally had what they needed for success.

An example of a portfolio holding that was profitable the first half of this year and is well poised for the future is the Goldman Sachs Group Inc. ("Goldman"). Goldman is a financial services company with solid management, along with quality assets, and a well-defined business mix, but until recently it wasn't available at a price we liked. As market conditions deteriorated last fall, Goldman approached our target price and our continued analysis indicated an increase in Goldman's intrinsic value. Time has strengthened our belief that Goldman will be a survivor. Goldman seems to have emerged from the economic crisis and is reestablishing itself as one of the world's preeminent financial firms. We believe that as global economic conditions improve, Goldman is poised to continue to successfully participate in the trading and asset management businesses as well as a potential flurry of merger and acquisition deals. We believe Goldman stands ready to capture a good portion of this growing business as several of its competitors have been weakened or have fallen. In addition, we feel Goldman's strong international presence leaves it particularly well positioned to be a long-term winner for the Fund's shareholders.

Another portfolio holding that helped the Fund's performance the first half of this year was Jardine Matheson Holdings Limited ("Jardine"). Jardine is a conglomerate that was founded in China in 1832. It is listed in Singapore, incorporated in Bermuda, and controlled by a Scottish family with diverse holdings throughout Asia. Jardine has a long history in Hong Kong going back to 1841 when James Matheson established one of Hong Kong's first offices. Through one of its entities, Hongkong Land, Jardine's holdings include over 5 million square feet of prime office real estate in the heart of Hong Kong as well as residential and commercial projects in Beijing, Singapore, and other cities in the region. Another one of its entities, Dairy Farm, is one of the leading retailers in Asia with low net debt and strong cash flows; it operates over 4,700 outlets including supermarkets, health and beauty stores, convenience stores, and restaurants. We believe Jardine is well positioned to participate in the economic growth of Asia. This is particularly important because we believe that the East will be the center of much of the economic growth in the future.

WINTERGREEN FUND, INC.

JUNE 30, 2009 (Unaudited)

Around the world many businesses continue to grow in strength. It is also becoming clear that some businesses will not survive, and for some businesses it is still too early to know whether or not they will make it. The characteristics we seek for good investments, which we often refer to as the "Trifecta", continue to be good guideposts for us:

1. Solid business with good and improving economics,
2. Good management working for the long-term shareholders, and
3. Security availability at an attractive price.

In light of recent changes to the world economy, searching for companies that meet these descriptions is providing interesting global results. The world market has altered business realities for many companies, as managements are being tested to adapt to new economic pressures for all investors and security prices must be analyzed in an attempt to determine the true discrepancy between market price and the intrinsic value. We believe these altered business realities are creating some phenomenal opportunities for Wintergreen to own some top-notch companies at what we believe are attractive prices. In the real world, there is no "Wizard of Oz," no magic formula, but by doing the work, we believe we can continue to uncover these treasures around the world.

We thank you for your continued investment in Wintergreen and look forward to continuing opportunities.

Sincerely,

David J. Winters, CFA
Portfolio Manager

WINTERGREEN FUND, INC.

NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

JUNE 30, 2009 (Unaudited)

Note 1. Organization

Wintergreen Fund, Inc. (the "Fund") is registered as an open-end, diversified management investment company under the Investment Company Act of 1940 (the "Act"), as amended. The Fund was organized as a Maryland corporation on May 5, 2005 and commenced operations on October 17, 2005. The Fund is authorized to issue one billion shares of beneficial interest with $0.001 per share par value. The Fund seeks capital appreciation and may invest in securities of foreign issuers, which may subject it to investment risks not normally associated with investing in securities of the United States.

Note 2. Summary of Significant Accounting Policies

The following summarizes the significant accounting policies of the Fund:

Security Valuation — The Fund calculates its net asset value per share on each business day the New York Stock Exchange ("NYSE") is open as of the close of the NYSE; normally 4:00 pm Eastern Time. Portfolio securities traded or dealt on one or more securities exchanges (whether domestic or foreign) and not subject to restrictions against resale shall be valued (i) at the last quoted sale price or, in the absence of a sale, (ii) at the mean of the last bid and ask price. For securities traded or dealt on more than one exchange, or on one or more exchanges and on the over-the-counter market, quotations from the market in which the security is primarily traded are used. For an option, the last quoted sale on an exchange or board of trade on which the option is traded shall be used. In the absence of a sale, the mean between the highest bid and lowest asked prices at the close of the exchanges and/or board of trade on which the option trades shall be used. Securities not traded or dealt on any securities exchange for which over-the-counter market quotations are readily available generally shall be valued at the mean of the current bid and ask price. Money market instruments that mature in 60 days or less may be valued at amortized cost.

Securities are valued at fair value, in accordance with procedures adopted by the Fund's Board of Directors (the "Board") when 1) market quotations are insufficient or not readily available; 2) prices or values available do not represent fair value in the judgment of the Fund's investment manager; or 3) securities are determined to be illiquid.

As of June 30, 2009, Current Group, LLC, a restricted and illiquid security, was priced at fair value as determined by the Board's Valuation Committee pursuant to the Fund's valuation procedures. This security has an acquisition date of December 28, 2006. At June 30, 2009, the fair value of this security was $0, which represents 0% of net assets and has a current cost of $20,100,000.

Security Transactions, Investment Income, and Realized Gain/Loss — Investment transactions are accounted for on trade date. Dividend income is recorded on the ex-dividend date and is recorded net of unrecoverable withholding tax. Interest income and expenses are recorded on an accrual basis. Identified cost of investments sold is used to determine the gain and loss for both financial statement and Federal income tax purposes.

Foreign Currencies — Foreign currency amounts are translated into U.S. dollars based on the foreign exchange rate in effect generally at the close of the NYSE (normally 4:00 pm Eastern Time) at the date of valuation. If the foreign exchange rate in effect at the close of the NYSE is not available from the Fund's pricing agent, the currency may be valued using the foreign exchange rate standard provided by the Fund's pricing agent. The portion of the results of operations arising from changes in the foreign exchange rates on investments and the portion due to fluctuations arising from changes in the market prices of securities held are not isolated. Such fluctuations are reflected in net realized and unrealized gain or loss on the Statement of Operations.

Reported net realized foreign exchange gains or losses arise from sales of foreign currencies, currency gains or losses realized between the trade and settlement dates on securities transactions, and the difference between the amounts of dividends, interest, and foreign withholding taxes recorded on the Fund's books and the U.S. dollar equivalent of the amounts actually received or paid. Net unrealized foreign exchange gains and losses arise from changes in the fair values of assets and liabilities, other than investments in securities at fiscal period end, resulting from changes in exchange rates.

Forward Currency Contracts — The Fund may enter into transactions to purchase or sell foreign currencies to protect the U.S. dollar value of the underlying portfolio securities against the effect of possible adverse movements in foreign exchange rates. Foreign currency transactions involve certain costs and risks. The Fund incurs foreign exchange expenses in converting assets from one currency to another. Forward contracts involve a risk of loss if the Investment Manager (as defined in Note 3) is inaccurate in predicting currency movements. The projection of short-term currency market movements is extremely difficult and the successful execution of a short-term hedging strategy is highly uncertain. The precise matching of forward contract amounts and the value of the securities involved are generally not possible. Accordingly, it may be necessary for the Fund to purchase additional foreign currency if the fair value of the security is less than the amount of the foreign currency the Fund is obligated to deliver under the forward contract and the decision is made to sell the security and make delivery of the foreign currency. The use of forward contracts as a hedging technique does not eliminate fluctuations in the prices of the underlying securities the Fund owns or intends to acquire, but it does fix a rate of exchange in advance. Although forward contracts can reduce the risk of loss due to a decline in the value of the hedged currencies, they also limit any potential gain that might result from an increase in the value of the currencies. These instruments involve market risk, credit risk, or both kinds of risks, in excess of the amount recognized in the Statement of Assets and Liabilities. (See Note 6)

Market and Credit Risks — Market risk of derivative financial instruments is the potential for changes in the fair value due to market changes, including interest and foreign exchange rate movements, and fluctuations in security prices. Credit risk is the possibility that a loss may occur due to the failure of a counterparty to perform according to the terms of a contract. Credit risk is limited to amounts recorded by the Fund as assets. Realized gain or loss includes net gain or loss on transactions that have terminated by settlement or, for tax purposes, by the Fund entering into offsetting commitments with the same counterparty. The Fund's Investment Manager (as defined in Note 3) is responsible for determining the value of the underlying collateral. In the normal course of business, the Fund invests in securities and enters into transactions where risks exist due to fluctuations in the market (market risk) or failure of the other party to a transaction to perform (credit risk). The value of securities held by the Fund may decline in response to certain events, including those directly involving the companies whose securities are owned by the Fund; conditions affecting the general economy; overall market changes; local, regional or global political, social or economic instability; and currency and interest rate and price fluctuations. Similar to credit risk, the Fund may be exposed to counterparty risk, or the risk that an entity with which the Fund has unsettled or open transactions may default. Financial assets, which potentially expose the Fund to credit and counterparty risks, consist principally of investments and forward currency contracts and cash due from counterparties. The extent of the Fund's exposure to credit and counterparty risks in respect to these financial assets approximates their value as recorded in the Fund's Statement of Assets and Liabilities.

Restricted Securities — The Fund may invest in restricted debt and equity securities which cannot be offered for public sale without first being registered under the Securities Act of 1933. To the extent the Fund purchases securities which are restricted as to resale, the Fund may incur additional risks and costs. Restricted securities may be particularly difficult to value, their disposition may require greater effort and expense than more liquid securities, and the Fund may incur costs in connection with the registration of restricted securities in order to dispose of such securities.

On December 28, 2006, the Fund contributed $20,100,000 for a limited liability member interest in Current Group, LLC and entered into a registration rights agreement with respect to shares of common stock into which their interests may be converted. These registration rights include (1) two demand registrations commencing after the earlier of (A) the fifth anniversary of the date of the registration rights agreement and (B) the first anniversary of the consummation of an initial public offering ("IPO") of Current Group, LLC common stock, (2) three Form S-3 registration demands commencing after the first anniversary of the consummation of an IPO, and (3) unlimited "piggyback" registrations commencing following the consummation of an IPO. No quoted market price exists for the Fund's interest in Current Group, LLC. The Fund's interest has been valued in accordance with the procedures adopted for the valuation of portfolio securities by the Fund's Board.

Securities Sold Short — The Fund may sell a security short to, among other things, increase investment returns based on the anticipation of a decline in the fair value of a security. A short sale is a transaction in which the Fund sells a security that it does not own. To complete the transaction, the Fund must borrow the security in order to deliver it to the buyer. The Fund must replace the borrowed security by purchasing it at market price at a future time of replacement. The price may be higher or lower than the price at which the Fund sold the security.

The Fund incurs a loss from a short sale if the price of the security increases between the date of the short sale and the date on which the Fund replaces the borrowed security. The Fund realizes a profit if the price of the security declines between those dates. A gain, limited to the difference between the replacement price and the price at which the Fund sold the security short, or a loss, unlimited in size, will be recognized upon the termination of a short sale.

Until the Fund replaces the borrowed security, the Fund will maintain a segregated account with the custodian, holding cash and/or long securities to sufficiently cover its short position on a daily basis. Dividends paid on securities sold short are recorded as an expense on the Fund's books. As of June 30, 2009, there were no securities sold short held by the Fund.

Distributions to Shareholders — Distributions to shareholders of net investment income, if any, are intended to be made twice each year and net capital gains, if any, are declared and paid at least annually. The amount of distribution will vary, and there is no guarantee the Fund will pay either income or capital gain distributions. Distributions are based on amounts calculated in accordance with applicable Federal income tax regulations, which may differ from accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America ("GAAP"). These differences are due primarily to differing treatments of income and gain on various investment securities held by the Fund, timing differences, and differing characterizations of distributions made by the Fund. The Fund records distributions on its books on the ex-dividend date.

Federal Taxes — The Fund intends to qualify each year as a regulated investment company under Subchapter M of the Internal Revenue Code and distribute all its taxable income. Therefore, no Federal income or excise tax provision is required.

The Fund has reviewed the tax positions for the open tax years as of December 31, 2008 and has determined that no provision for income tax is required in the Fund's financial statements. As of December 31, 2008, tax years 2005, 2006, 2007, and 2008 remain subject to examination by the Fund's major tax jurisdictions.

Repurchase Agreements — The Fund may invest in repurchase agreements. The Fund, through its custodian, receives delivery of the underlying collateral, whose fair value exceeds or equals the repurchase price plus expected transaction costs. In the case of a tri-party agreement, the collateral is held by an agent bank. The Fund's Investment Manager (as defined in Note 3) is responsible for determining the value of the underlying collateral. In the event of default, the Fund may have difficulties with the disposition of any such securities held as collateral. As of June 30, 2009, there were no repurchase agreements held by the Fund.

Contractual Obligations — The Fund enters into contracts in the normal course of business that contain a variety of indemnifications. The Fund's maximum exposure under these arrangements is unknown. However, the Fund has not had any prior claims or losses pursuant to these contracts. Fund management has reviewed the Fund's existing contracts and expects the risk of loss to be remote.

Redemption Fee — The Fund will generally charge a redemption fee of 2.00% of the net asset value of shares redeemed if the shares are sold within 60 calendar days of purchase. The fee is charged for the benefit of the remaining shareholders and is paid to the Fund. To calculate redemption fees, the Fund uses the first-in, first-out method to determine the holding period. Under this method, the date of redemption is compared with the earliest purchase date of the shares held in the account. The fee is accounted for as paid-in capital.

Use of Estimates — These financial statements are prepared in accordance with GAAP, which requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities, the disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements, and the reported amounts of increase and decrease in net assets from operations during the reporting period. Actual amounts could differ from those estimates.

Subsequent Events — In preparing these financial statements, management has evaluated events and transactions for potential recognition or disclosure through August 25, 2009, the date the financial statements were available to be issued. Management has determined that there are no material events that would require disclosure in the Fund's financial statement through this date.

SFAS 162 became effective on November 15, 2008. Management has evaluated SFAS 162 and has determined that it will not materially impact the Fund’s financial statements.

Shareholder Expenses Example

As a shareholder of the Fund, you incur two types of costs: (1) transaction costs, including redemption fees; and (2) ongoing costs, including management fees, distribution and/or service (12b-1) fees, and other Fund expenses. This example is intended to help you understand your ongoing costs (in dollars) of investing in the Fund and to compare these costs with the ongoing costs of investing in other mutual funds.

The following example is based on $1,000 invested at the beginning of the period and held for the entire period from January 1, 2009 through June 30, 2009.

Actual Expenses — The first line in the following table below provides information about actual account values and actual expenses. You may use the information in this line, together with the amount you invested, to estimate the expenses that you paid over the period. Simply divide your account value by $1,000 (for example, an $8,600 account value divided by $1,000 = 8.6), then multiply the result by the number in the first line under the heading entitled "Expenses Paid During Period" to estimate the expenses you paid on your account during the period.

Hypothetical Example for Comparison Purposes — The second line in the following table below provides information about hypothetical account values and hypothetical expenses based on the Fund's actual expense ratio and an assumed rate of return of 5% per year before expenses, which is not the Fund's actual return. The hypothetical account values and expenses may not be used to estimate the actual ending account balance or expenses you paid for the period. You may use this information to compare the ongoing cost of investing in the Fund and other funds. To do so, compare this 5% hypothetical example with the 5% hypothetical examples that appear in the shareholder reports of other funds.

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION

JUNE 30, 2009 (Unaudited)

Please note that expenses shown in the table are meant to highlight your ongoing costs only and do not reflect any transactional costs, such as redemption fees. Therefore, the second line of the table is useful in comparing ongoing costs only, and will not help you determine the relative total costs of owning different funds. In addition, if these transaction costs were included, your costs would have been higher.
